

April 25, 2001 Wasatch Wave FROM THE FRONT

Wave photo by Laurie Wynn

Library Hosts Junior High Art

From left to right: Judith Deegan, Karrie Penney and Tracey Askins enjoy the reception held Wednesday evening, April 18, at the Wasatch County Library for the artists from Wasatch Mountain Junior High School in Heber City. The students' artwork will hang in the library until May. Artwork on display are: Monkeys by Sara Ely, Rhino by Cullen Duncan, Tiger by Lauren Hansen, Snake by Spencer Baumgartner, Tiger by Lane Gardiner, Landscape by Patrick Horner, ScratchArt by Sam Nelson, Leopard by Sadie Fillmore, Polar Bears by Annika Decastro, Pheasant by Preston Sessions, Landscape 1 and Landscape 2 by M'kaila Shell, and Octopus by Alicia Stockman.

OPINION

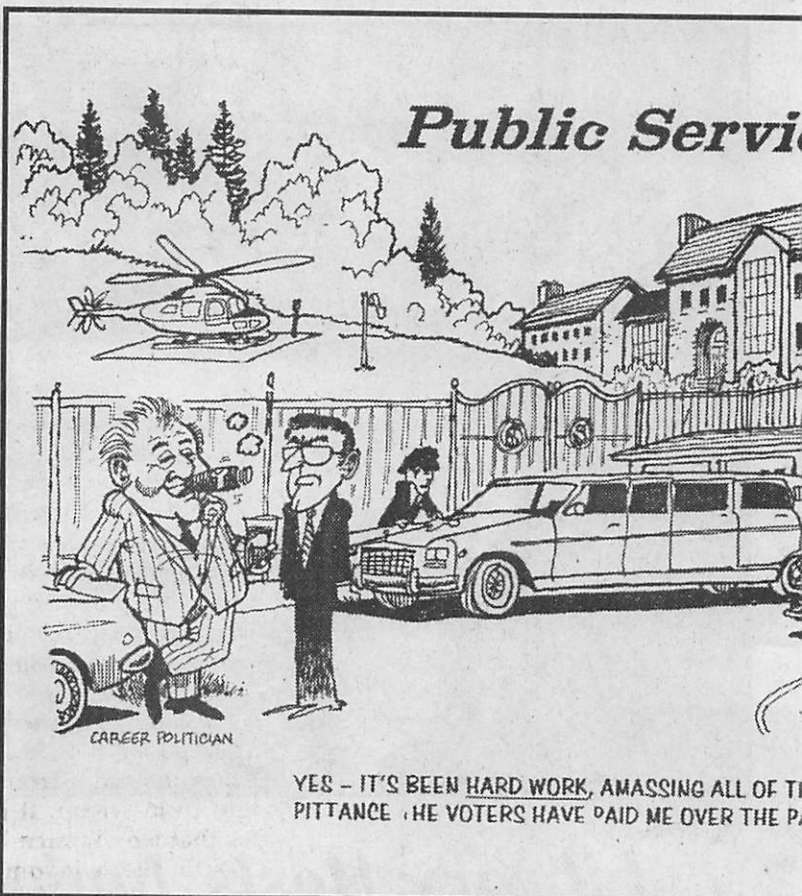

Guide
ntry

Leave your consumptive snobbery back in the city.

We don't care about the year and model of the car you drive. Besides, our dirty, dusty roads play heck with black foreign cars, ladies lathered in greasy make-up and guys who plaster their hair with gel or mousse. The only moose out here are the ones that may run out in front of your car at night when you are least expecting it.

When dining out don't ask for anything on the half-shell or order an arugla salad with brie dressing. We'll all be embarrassed for you if you eat your chicken with a knife and fork, or your chicken fried steak with your fingers.

We do not consider asking for a wine steward a sign of sophistication, especially if you're at the Dairy Queen. We don't have a sushi bar but the grocery store does sell bait, along with calf

Salt Lake 2002 Olympic Torchbearer Nom

For 65 wondrous days, the Salt Lake 2002 Olympic Torch Relay Chevrolet, will celebrate the power of inspiration across America without the inspirational people who light a spark of change. The Salt Lake Organizing Committee for the Olympic Winter Games will embody the Olympic Spirit by motivating their peers and children will showcase the passion and diversity of our country. The Relay travels more than 13,500 miles. One by one, selected from their communities and the nation as they help carry the Olympic